

Avalon and Cleveland-based C:DOX Join Forces

CLEVELAND, O.H., October 30, 2017 – Avalon, a national provider of eDiscovery, managed services, and traditional litigation support services to law firms and corporations, has announced today that it will team up with C:DOX, a Cleveland-based litigation support and eDiscovery provider.

Through the deal, Avalon will add to its market presence in Cleveland and will retain all C:DOX team members, adding 15 people to the company. All team members will retain their current positions, and C:DOX partners, Marty Bohn and Bob DeStefanis, will remain with the company as Co-managing Partners.

During the transition, the current C:DOX office will continue to be known as C:DOX, now under the Avalon parent name. Both offices will be maintained as they currently operate out of the same building located at 1360 East 9th Street.

Since their opening in 2005, C:DOX has established a large and loyal client base. Avalon too, has established a sizeable and dedicated client base after entering the Cleveland market only 4 years ago, and shortly after merging with ProFile Discovery's Cleveland location in 2014.

Avalon and C:DOX both strive to meet and exceed customers' expectations, while rising to the challenges, no matter how difficult they may seem. C:DOX's clients will continue to receive the same services, benefits, quality, and customer service that they are accustomed to. C:DOX already offers a variety of eDiscovery and litigation support services, and the merger allows them to provide additional specialty services, such as Relativity hosting, Ipro hosting, cyber security, digital forensics, accident reconstruction, and business document services.

JP Midgley, CEO of Avalon, says "Due to the very similar litigation support, eDiscovery services, and quality control processes both Avalon and C:DOX offer, this was a natural step toward providing Cleveland with the very best of those services and more."

These sentiments are shared by Marty Bohn and Bob DeStefanis of C:DOX. "This is a very exciting time for C:DOX's employees and customers. JP is building a great company that prides itself on customer service and a "team first" approach, much like C:DOX has done over the years. Our employees are going to have some great opportunities to advance within this growing company."
